Graduate Course Selection

Students should consult their program directors for admission, course selection and other issues regarding their degree completion. Non-degree students also should consult with the program director regarding permission to enroll in classes. Courses at the 600 level or above are restricted to students who have been accepted to either degree or non-degree status or those with a registration form signed by the graduate program director.

Placement Tests

To ensure appropriate placement in English courses, all students with fewer than six hours of approved transfer credit in English composition from another college must take an English placement examination prior to registration in English composition. A math placement exam also is required before registering for math courses required in all majors; and a language placement test is required for students continuing in a language from high school.

Graduate Programs

All students seeking graduate degrees must apply for admission. Graduate certificate students must meet the same academic standards as degree students and also must complete the application process. Visit graduate admissions for an application.

Candidates interested in taking courses prior to completing the application process may do so only with permission of the appropriate program director. With permission, students may enroll in biomedical sciences (medical laboratory sciences), interactive media, journalism, molecular/cell biology, public relations or teaching courses. Non-degree students are not permitted to take courses offered through the anesthesiologist assistant, cardiovascular perfusion, MBA, MSW, nursing, pathologists' assistant, physician assistant or radiologists' assistant programs. Non-degree students are not permitted to continue unless they complete the admissions process and are accepted to either degree or certificate status.

Part-Time Undergraduate Programs

Admitted students should contact their adviser regarding course selection and other issues regarding degree completion. Non-matriculated students may call the Office of Admissions at 203-582-8612 with questions regarding admission and programs offered by Quinnipiac. To be considered for non-matriculated study, the student must have earned a high school diploma at least five years ago. A maximum of 6 credits may be taken in any semester. Advanced courses may require specific prerequisites and permission for registration. Non-matriculated students must contact the registrar's office for further information about registration. Current non-matriculated students are encouraged to apply for admission/change of status as soon as possible to ensure guidance with course selection and a degree program. No more than 12 credits may be completed by non-matriculated students in the School of Business and Engineering.
