

Emily L. Barr
President & CEO,
Graham Media Group

Emily L. Barr is the president and chief executive officer of Graham Media Group, the television broadcasting division of Graham Holdings Company. She has held this position since July 2012.

Barr oversees seven local television stations - each in a top-70 market, representing nearly 7% coverage in the U.S. All stations are recognized as news leaders on air, on the go and on line: KPRC-Houston (NBC); WDIV-Detroit (NBC); KSAT-San Antonio (ABC); WKMG-Orlando (CBS); a duopoly in Jacksonville: WJXT (Fully Local) and WCWJ (CW); and WSLS-Roanoke (NBC). GMG also owns Social News Desk, a leading provider of social media management tools designed to connect newsrooms with their users.

Under Barr 's leadership, Graham Media Group was awarded "2016 Station Group of the Year" by Broadcasting and Cable Magazine.

Prior to joining Graham Media Group, Barr served as the president and general manager of ABC 7 Chicago (WLS-TV), the ABC-owned station in Chicago, IL. She held this position from April 1997 until July 2012. Under her leadership and throughout her tenure, ABC 7 strengthened its dominance in the market and remained the top-rated/most watched station in Chicago. In 2009, Barr helped create The LIVE WELL NETWORK, an innovative digital broadcast, online and wireless network focusing on home, health and lifestyle programming.

Previously, Barr served as the president and general manager of WTVD-TV, the ABC-owned station in Raleigh-Durham, NC, which she joined in October 1994. In July 1988, Barr joined WMAR-TV in Baltimore, MD, as the director of broadcast operations & programming. She was promoted to assistant general manager in May 1993.

Earlier in her career, Barr was the director of creative services (1987-88) and advertising and promotion manager (1985-87) at KHOU-TV in Houston, TX. She also worked as a writer and producer for WJLA-TV in Washington, DC, which she joined in January 1983. Barr began her career in broadcasting in 1980 as a news editor at KSTP-TV in St. Paul, MN.
